

TEACHING U.S. HISTORY CAN BE A LONELY JOB--UNTIL

Join History Matter's popular on-line forums in which leading U.S. historians talk with teachers about teaching strategies and resources as well as questions of historical interpretation.

September 2002
Feminist Movements in U.S. History with Estelle Freedman (Stanford)

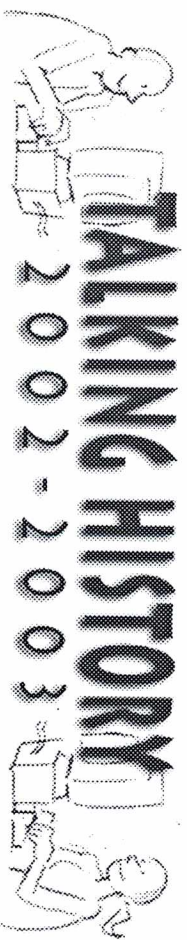

October 2002
Using Material Culture to Teach U.S. History with Laurel Thatcher Ulrich (Harvard)

November 2002
History of Early Settlement in the U.S. with Alan Taylor (Univ. of California at Davis)

February 2002
Using Oral History to Teach U.S. History with Linda Shopes (Pennsylvania Historical & Museum Commission)

March 2003
Teaching the U.S. Civil War with David Blight (Amherst College)

TEACHING U.S. HISTORY CAN BE A LONELY JOB--UNTIL

Join History Matter's popular on-line forums in which leading U.S. historians talk with teachers about teaching strategies and resources as well as questions of historical interpretation.

September 2002
Feminist Movements in U.S. History with Estelle Freedman (Stanford)

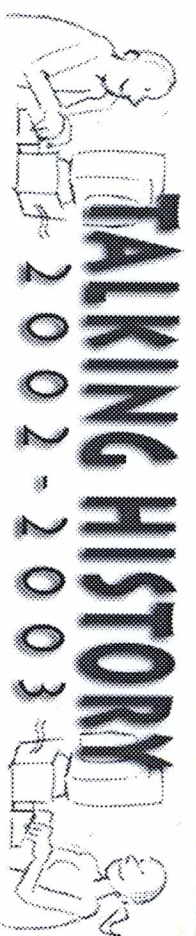

October 2002
Using Material Culture to Teach U.S. History with Laurel Thatcher Ulrich (Harvard)

November 2002
History of Early Settlement in the U.S. with Alan Taylor (Univ. of California at Davis)

February 2002
Using Oral History to Teach U.S. History with Linda Shopes (Pennsylvania Historical & Museum Commission)

March 2003
Teaching the U.S. Civil War with David Blight (Amherst College)

TEACHING U.S. HISTORY CAN BE A LONELY JOB--UNTIL

Join History Matter's popular on-line forums in which leading U.S. historians talk with teachers about teaching strategies and resources as well as questions of historical interpretation.

September 2002
Feminist Movements in U.S. History with Estelle Freedman (Stanford)

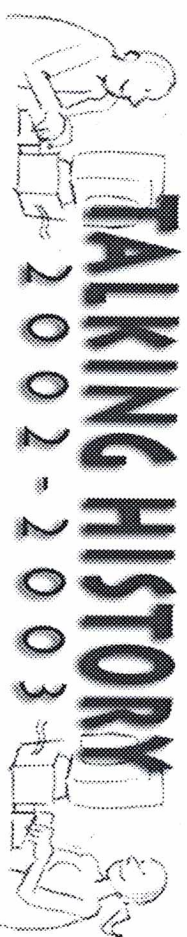

October 2002
Using Material Culture to Teach U.S. History with Laurel Thatcher Ulrich (Harvard)

November 2002
History of Early Settlement in the U.S. with Alan Taylor (Univ. of California at Davis)

February 2002
Using Oral History to Teach U.S. History with Linda Shopes (Pennsylvania Historical & Museum Commission)

March 2003
Teaching the U.S. Civil War with David Blight (Amherst College)

TEACHING U.S. HISTORY CAN BE A LONELY JOB--UNTIL

Join History Matter's popular on-line forums in which leading U.S. historians talk with teachers about teaching strategies and resources as well as questions of historical interpretation.

September 2002
Feminist Movements in U.S. History with Estelle Freedman (Stanford)

October 2002
Using Material Culture to Teach U.S. History with Laurel Thatcher Ulrich (Harvard)

November 2002
History of Early Settlement in the U.S. with Alan Taylor (Univ. of California at Davis)

February 2002
Using Oral History to Teach U.S. History with Linda Shopes (Pennsylvania Historical & Museum Commission)

March 2003
Teaching the U.S. Civil War with David Blight (Amherst College)