tabbed content box saves space, addresses need to highlight stuff from other sections, allow for featured image where appropriate;see second page for example with TAH Project tab open

there was not a good way to tack these onto the bottom of the quiz box to right; it would elongate that div and created ugly trapped whitespace in the main area; assuming that the existence of these features trumps reading the actual questions, I've put it in the Extended Footer region

A Focus on American Political Thought and History [OH]

Bringing a well-known, founding document such as the Declaration of Independence into the classroom can be exciting, but it can also be daunting. TeachingAmericanHistory can help teachers and students place it into a larger historical context.
